Market review

The Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) did not meet in June, but after a dovish cut in mid May left the market leaning towards another cut in July. Activity data during June added to the case for another rate cut. First quarter gross domestic data came in at 0.2% and 1.3% annually, below market and RBA forecasts. Markets ended the month pricing over a 90% chance of a rate cut in early July priced, up from 70% at the start of month.

In offshore events economic data and trade talk headlines took a back seat to geopolitical tension in the Middle East. Israel launched airstrikes against Iran mid-month and saw the oil price rising quickly in response. Brent oil rose 13% in the aftermath. Escalating the situation further was the involvement of the United States, which conducted air strikes targeting Iran's nuclear sites. Iran retaliated by targeting the US base in Qatar. Their retaliation was viewed as being at the lower end and saw the oil price fall back to levels seen pre-Israel's airstrike.

European bonds underperformed their US counterparts during the month. Weighing on European yields was an increase in annual defence spending to 5% of gross domestic product by 2035 announced following the NATO summit. The amount is split with 3.5% going towards core defence requirements and 1.5% allocated towards protecting critical infrastructure and strengthening the defence industrial base. US bonds benefitted from more dovish central bank language. Headlines suggesting changes to Supplementary Leverage Ratio (SLR) that apply to globally systemic important US banks also assisted. The move is intended to increase capacity for large US banks to engage in low-risk activities such market intermediation in US treasuries. US ten-year bond yields ended the month 17 basis points lower at 4.23%. German ten-year yields finished the month 11 basis points higher at 2.61%.

Equity markets were also mixed. In the US the S&P500 reached a new peak following a monthly gain of 5%. Diversified banks rose by 9%, assisted by the potential SLR changes. European bourses didn't reflect the same strength during the month, although remain at or near all-time highs. The DAX (Germany) ended the month - 0.4% and the CACS (France) fell by 1.1%.

In the United States the Federal Reserve left policy settings unchanged. The Federal Reserve provided updated economic forecasts via their 'dot plot'. The median forecast continues to reflect 2 rate cuts by the end of this year. Further policy easing of 25 basis points is forecast for 2026 and 2027. The prior forecast had 50 basis points of easing for 2026 and 25 basis points for 2027. Economic growth was revised lower with inflation and unemployment revised upward. In his semi-annual testimony Powell indicated that he is in no rush to cut rates soon given the strength of the labour market. Uncertainty about the impact from yet to be resolved tariffs is also supporting the case for remaining on hold.

Economic data was tilted towards the weaker than expected side. The ISM services index was weaker than expected and dipped below 50, indicating a contraction in activity. The ISM manufacturing index continues to indicate contraction as well. The unemployment rate was unchanged at 4.2%, in line with expectation. Non-farm payrolls were slightly better for the month, although the prior 2 months data had a net downward revision of 95,000 jobs. Monthly headline and core inflation undershot consensus when rising by 0.1% (against 0.2% and 0.3%). The Conference Board Consumer Confidence survey was weaker and fell sharply. The fall was attributed to concerns over the impact of tariffs on the economy and jobs.

Other central banks to leave policy settings unchanged during the month included the Bank of Japan. The BoJ left its policy rate unchanged at 0.50%. They did announce their intention to reduce quarterly government bond purchases by 200bn yen from April 2026. The current pace of bond purchases is 400bn yen per quarter. The Bank of England left policy unchanged, although the 6-3 vote surprised the market and increased expectations of policy easing at their next meeting in August. The Bank of Canada also left their policy rate unchanged at 2.75%.

Central banks that eased during the month included the European Central Bank. The ECB eased by 25 basis points to 2%, in line with market expectations. ECB President Lagarde was however more hawkish with her comments post the decision and saw yields rise. Lagarde stated that "I think we are getting to the end of a monetary policy cycle". Headlines suggested that the ECB may pause at their next meeting in July and some see the easing cycle as having finished.

The Swiss National Bank also eased by 25 basis points, taking their policy rate to zero. The Bank has expressed a reluctance to move back into negative interest rate policy territory and signaled they would intervene in the foreign exchange market if required.

The Norges Bank surprised the market when easing policy by 25 basis points to 4.25%, marking the first policy change from the bank since December 2023. In Sweden the Riksbank continued policy easing when reducing their policy rate by 0.25% to 2%.

Fund performance and activity

The Fund returned 0.33% (net of fees) for the month outperforming by 1 basis point. The yield on the Fund at month end was 4.07%.

Six-month BBSW ended the month slightly higher at 3.78%. The bills-OIS spread widened by 0.15% to 0.41%. The market ended the month pricing over a 90% chance of a further rate cut by the RBA at their next meeting in early July and expects the cash rate to end the year around 3%.

Positioning remains consistent with prior months. Additional yield from non-major bank exposure along with higher margin deposits from the major banks continue to benefit performance. The fund remains highly liquid and is well positioned to outperform in the coming months.

Market outlook

As indicated by market pricing the RBA will most likely ease the cash rate further in July to 3.60%. The market is also pricing a follow-up cut at their meeting in August as being highly likely. The key piece of domestic economic data that will solidify policy easing is the 2nd quarter inflation data to be released in late July. International events continue to provide headwinds for global economic growth. The 90-day pause on 'Liberation day' tariffs announced in April and subsequent trade deals will garner headlines during July. How events unfold around US trade policy will determine the pace and extent of further policy easing from the RBA.
